The Tamil Nadu Buildings (Lease and Rent Control) Act, 1960 Act No. 18 of 1960 Statement of Objects and Reasons - Tamil Nadu Buildings (Lease and Rent Control) Act, 1960 (Tamil Nadu Act 18 of 1960). - The Madras Buildings (Lease and Rent Control) Act, 1949 (Madras Act XXV of 1949), came into force on the 14th December 1949. It was amended by Madras Act VIII of 1951 to remove certain difficulties experienced in the working of the Act. To remove certain other practical difficulties which were experienced later, an amending Bill was prepared with a view to extend the life of the Act beyond the 30th September 1955 for a further period of two years and to amend certain provisions of the Act. This combined Bill could not be introduced, as amendments to the several sections could not be finalised in time and, therefore, the Bill was split up and a separate Bill was introduced in the Legislature in 1955 extending the life of the Act alone which was enacted as Madras Act XXVI of 1955. During the discussion of the above Bill in the Legislature, the Members of the Legislature suggested that certain provisions of the principal Act should be amended so as to remove the difficulties experienced in the working of the Act and the Minister in, charge gave an assurance on the floor of the House that a comprehensive Bill would be introduced in the Legislature separately to remove the difficulties. An amending Bill was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 26th December 1956. However, its consideration was deferred with the permission of the House till after the formation of a new Ministry in 1957. This Bill lapsed consequent on the dissolution of the Legislature under the provisions of Article 196 (5) of the Constitution. Before the Bill could be re-published and introduced in the Legislature, the life of the Act had to be extended for a further period of two years, from the 1st October 1957 to the 30th September, 1959. This was done by the Madras Buildings (Lease and Rent Control) Amendment Act, 1957 (Madras Act XII of 1957). During the debate on the above Act, in its Bill stage, Members of the Legislature made some suggestions for amendments of certain provisions of the Act and the Minister for Electricity gave an assurance that he would have these suggestions examined along with other amendments already decided upon and introduce a comprehensive Bill. The present Bill has been drafted accordingly for introduction in the Legislature. Statement of Objects and Reasons - Tamil Nadu Buildings (Lease and Rent Control) Amendment Act, 1962 (Tamil Nadu Act 2 of 1962). - Under the Madras Buildings

(Lease and Rent Control) Amendment Bill, 1961, which was introduced in the Legislative Assembly on the 13th November 1961, it was proposed to take away the exemption granted to buildings referred to in clauses (ii) and (iii) of section 30 of the Madras Buildings (Lease and Rent Control) Act, 1960. The Select Committee of the Legislative Assembly to which the Bill was referred to decided that the exemption under clauses (ii) and (iii) aforesaid should be on the basis of rent paid by the tenants and that the protection under the Act should not be extended to a tenant paying a monthly rent exceeding two Hundred to a tenant paying a monthly rent exceeding two hundred and fifty rupees in the case of a residential building or part thereof and four hundred rupees in the case of a non-residential building or part thereof. The Bill seeks to amend the principal Act to give effect to the decision of the Select Committee.

Statement of Objects and Reasons - Tamil Nadu Buildings (Lease and Rent Control) Second Amendment Act, 1962. - Section 30 of the Madras Buildings (Lease and Rent Control) Act, 1960 (Madras Act 18 of 1960) as amended by Act 2 of 1962 exempts from the provisions of the Act, the following categories of buildings, namely:-(i) building the construction of which was, after the date of the commencement of this Act, completed and notified to the local authority concerned; or(ii) any residential building or part thereof occupied by any one tenant if the monthly rent paid by him in respect of that building or part exceeds two hundred and fifty rupees; or(iii) any non-residential building or part thereof occupied by anyone tenant if the monthly rent paid by him in respect of that building or part exceeds four hundred rupees. In the actual working of the provisions of the Act, it is observed that landlords have taken undue advantage of the provisions in clauses (ii) and (iii) of section 30. The tenants are put to much hardship as exorbitant rents are being demanded. It is necessary that the hardship caused to the tenants should be removed. It is, however, necessary to retain the exemption in respect of new buildings the construction of which has been completed and notified to the local authority concerned, after the commencement of the Madras Act 18 of 1960. The Bill, therefore, seeks to achieve the objects by deleting clauses (ii) and (iii) and retaining clause (i).

Statement of Objects and Reasons - The Madras Buildings (Lease and Rent Control) Amendment Act, 1963 (Tamil Nadu Act 16 of 1963) - The Madras Buildings (Lease and Rent Control) Act, 1960 (Madras Act 18 of 1960), as it now stands, is due to expire on the 30th September 1963. There is still shortage of accommodation (residential and non-residential) and the housing position has not improved even now. It is, therefore, considered necessary to extend the life of Madras Act 18 of 1960 for a period of two years beyond the 30th September 1963. The Bill seeks to give effect to the above object.

Published in Part IV-Section 3 of the Fort St. George Gazette Extraordinary, dated the 10th August 1963.

Statement of Objects and Reasons - The Tamil Nadu Buildings (Lease and Rent Control) Amendment Act, 1964 (Tamil Nadu Act 11 of 1964). - The Madras Buildings (Lease and Rent Control) Act, 1960 (Madras Act 18 of 1960), relates to the regulation of the letting of residential and non-residential buildings and the control of rents of such buildings and the prevention of unreasonable eviction of tenants therefrom in the State of Madras. Under section 30 of the said Act, certain buildings are exempted from the provisions of the said Act. Any non-residential building or part thereof occupied by anyone tenant if the monthly rent paid by him in respect of that building or part exceeds four hundred rupees, is one such building or part exempted under the said section 30. It has been brought to the notice of the Government that the landlords of such non-residential buildings, taking advantage of the exemption, referred to above, demand exorbitant rents from the tenants of such buildings, who mostly belong to the business community, and threaten to evict the tenants when the latter do not concede the demands for such rents. In order to provide relief to such tenants and to ensure that the interests of trade and industries do not suffer by demands of land lords for unreasonable and exorbitant rents, the Government consider that the exemption now available to any non-residential building or part thereof fetching a monthly rent exceeding four hundred rupees should be withdrawn. At the same time, the Government consider that there is no need to take away the exemption available at present to any residential building or part thereof fetching a monthly rent exceeding two hundred and fifty rupees.<sup>2</sup> The Bill seeks to achieve the above object. Published in Part IV-Section 3 of the Fort St. George Gazette Extraordinary, dated the 28th March, 1964. Statement of Objects and Reasons - Tamil Nadu Buildings (Lease and Rent Control) Amendment Act, 1972 (Tamil Nadu Act 27 of 1972). - The Committee constituted to examine the various provisions of the Tamil Nadu Buildings (Lease and Rent Control) Act, 1960 (Tamil Nadu Act 18 of 1960), including the need for continuing the Act, and to suggest suitable amendments, has submitted its report in January 1971. The Committee has made certain important suggestions of a comprehensive nature which are under the active consideration of the Government. It will take some more time for the Government to take final decisions and bring forward a comprehensive measure. The life of the Tamil Nadu Act 18 of 1960 is due to expire on the 30th September 1972. It may not be possible to bring the comprehensive legislation as an Act before the 30th September 1972. It is, therefore, considered necessary to extend the life of the said Act for a further period of nine months, that is, up to and inclusive of the 30th June 1973.<sup>2</sup> The Bill seeks to achieve the above object. Statement of Objects and Reasons - Tamil Nadu Buildings (Lease and Rent Control) Amendment Act, 1973 (Tamil Nadu Act 23 of 1973). - The Tamil Nadu Buildings (Lease and Rent Control) Act, 1960, came into force on the 31st September 1960 and its life was extended, from time to time. The life of the Act will expire on the 30th September 1972 and legislation has been undertaken to extend the life of the Act for a further period of nine months. In November 1969, the Government constituted a committee of officials to examine the various provisions of the Tamil Nadu Buildings (Lease and Rent Control) Act, 1960, more particularly those relating to fixation of fair rent to buildings and suggest suitable amendments. The Committee was also requested to examine the necessity for continuing the Act, including the provisions relating to accommodation control.<sup>2</sup> The Committee submitted its report to the Government on the 21st January 1971. The Committee suggested a number of amendments of a comprehensive nature. The amendments have been examined in detail and the Government have decided to accept most of the amendments suggested by the Committee.<sup>3</sup> The Bill seeks to give effect to the above decision. Received the assent of the President on the 24th September 1960 and first published in the Fort St. George Gazette Extraordinary, dated the 30th September 1960.
