The Metro Railways (Construction Of Works) Act, 1978(33 OF 1978)

/741Statement of Objects and Reasons.-To meet the inadequacies of the existing surface 'transport system and the ever increasing demand of urban commuter traffic in Calcutta the idea of introducing the mass rapid transit system, popularly known as metro railway has been considered to be the only solution, and, accordingly, the construction work has been started.The methods of construction of an underground metro railway are by cut and cover or by burrowing tunnels. The metro alignment will pass mainly under public roads although, in some portion, the alignment will pass under private properties. Stations and other ancillary works connected with the construction of the metro railway will be located, in public streets or in road side private premises. The execution of the project in the non-effected zones necessarily entails road diversions, closure of all vehicular and pedestrian traffic, and diversion and re-location in a planned manner of various public utility services maintained by sundry authorities. Building and re-building operations in the proximate vicinity of a metro railway are also required to be regulated so that such activities do not jeopardise or endanger the metro railway, tunnels, alignments and other allied installations. Furthermore, in constructing the metro railway, whether by tunnelling or by the cut and cover method, it may be that a certain amount of ground settlement occurs requiring, in particular cases, underpinning or strengthening of certain old and dilapidated buildings or, in extreme cases, compulsory evacuation of people from the affected buildings for a temporary period.Under section 7 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, no railway construction is permissible in case of immovable property not belonging to the rails ay administration unless the same is acquired under the law for the time being in force for .cquisition of land. Although land can be acquired outright for construction of the metro railway and other incidental works under the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, the procedure for such acquisition is long-drawn and costly. Since the metro alignment will pass mainly under public land and at places under private properties, acquisition of mere right of user in the land, building, street, road or passage would mostly be sufficient for the purpose of construction of the metro railway or other works connected therewith without acquiring greater interest in such land, building, etc. Further, from the initiation of the land acquisition proceedings right up to their culmination by taking of possession, the whole process involves a time consuming and long-drawn procedure which does not seem to afford or ensure quick completion of acquisition. The present Bill confers necessary enabling powers on the Central Government for carrying out the aforesaid purposes. The Bill provides a speedy and adequate procedure for the acquisition of land, buildings, streets, roads or passage or the right of user in, or the right in the nature of easement on, such building, land, etc., by the Central Government to the exclusion of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894. Adequate provision has been made for the consideration of any objection that may be made by any person interested in the land, building road, street, etc., and for payment of an amount for the aforesaid acquisition. The other main features of the Bill are (i) appointment of a Commissioner of metro railway for the purpose of the inspection of the metro railways and for such other duties and powers as may be imposed or conferred upon him; (ii) constitution of Advisory Boards for aiding and advising the Central Government in the matter of formulation and co-ordination of plans in the development of metro railways; (iii) appointment of competent authorities or arbitrators for settling disputes as may be referred to such authorities or arbitrators under the provisions of the Bill. The proposed Bill seeks to achieve the above objects. Amendment Act 41 of 1982-Statement of Objects and Reasons.-The Metro Railways (Construction of Works) Act, 1978 was enacted to provide for construction of a network of a mass rapid transit system, popularly known as metro railway, in metropolitan cities, and for enabling powers for acquisition of property and taking other measures for execution of such projects speedily. Keeping in view the experience gained in the working of the Act during the last few years, it is considered necessary to amend the Act so as to better achieve the purposes thereof. 2. The more important amendments which are proposed to be made are the following:-(a) The jurisdiction vested by the Act in the arbitrator appointed under section 16 of the Act is in substance jurisdiction of an appellate nature. It is therefore proposed to provide for an appellate authority in place of the arbitrator and make the necessary incidental and consequential changes. (b) It is also proposed to specify that only persons who are holding or who have held a judicial office not lower in rank than that of a subordinate judge may be appointed as competent authorities under the Act. Likewise it is also proposed to specify that only persons who are holding or who have held a judicial office not lower in rank than that of a District Judge can be considered for appointment as the appellate authority. (c) The existing procedure of acquisition of property is being modified to make it more speedy and fair by permitting a person interested to appear before the competent authority through an agent also and to file his objections within a period of twenty-one days of the publication of the substance of notice under section 7; by requiring the competent authority to invite claims of persons interested by public notice and to take possession of the property acquired only after the amount payable therefor is deposited by the Central Government, within the time fixed by the competent authority; and by making the orders of the competent authority or the appellate authority determining any amount under the Act, enforceable as a decree of a Civil Court. (d) Section 19 of the Act relating to powers of the metro railway administration is being amended to spell out expressly that the powers under the section can be exercised by the administration for discharging its functions under section 18 of the Act. The section is also being amended to confer on the administration the power to temporarily close any street road, cable, etc.(e) For ensuring the safety of any metro railway or for facilitating the construction thereof, the Central Government has powers under section 21 of the Act to prohibit or regulate construction of buildings or any work of development up to a distance of ten meters on either side of the metro alignment. This limit of ten metres is being increased to twenty-metres.[21st August, 1978]An Act to provide for the construction of works relating to metro railways in the metropolitan cities and for matters connected therewith.Be it enacted by Parliament in the Twenty-ninth Year of the Republic of India as follows:-
