Tamil Nadu Land Improvement Schemes Act, 1959(Tamil Nadu Act 31 of 1959)Statement of Objects and Reasons - Tamil Nadu Land Improvement Schemes Act, 1959 (Tamil Nadu Act 31 of 1959). - In the Second Five-Year Plan, a provision of nearly one crore of rupees has been made for soil conservation work in this State. A major portion of this provision is to be spent on agricultural land.2. The Madras Land Improvement Schemes (Contour Bunding and Contour Trenching) Act, 1949 (Madras Act XXII of 1949), under which Soil Conservation Schemes are at present executed, has been found to be defective and also not adequate for dealing with the serious erosion problem in districts like the Nilgiris, which has been brought about by the indiscriminate cutting of trees and the clean tilling of slopes for potato cultivation. The formalities that have to be followed under the Act before actual execution of soil conservation measures in the lands are cumbersome and time-consuming, while speedy action is necessary to check the erosion. Under the Act, the responsibility for carrying out the works, rests with the Government. It is felt that in view of the growing magnitude of the work, the ryots themselves should be made responsible for carrying out the works in their lands and that the Government should step in only when the ryots fail. Further, the absence of a penal provision in the Act has made it ineffective. It has, therefore, become imperative to take up fresh legislation and replace the existing Act.3. The Bill provides for the constitution of the Madras Land Improvement Board with the Minister for Agriculture as Chairman and the Heads of the Departments of Agriculture, Forests and Irrigation, a Member of the Board of Revenue and three members of the Legislature, as members. This Board will be in charge of the preparation and execution of soil conservation and land improvement schemes taken up under the new Act. Provision has also been made for forming District Land Improvement Committees on advisory basis under the Chairmanship of the District Collector to make recommendations to the Land Improvement Board on the areas suitable for Soil Conservation Schemes.The Bill also provides for the constitution of River Valley Soil Conservation Boards in respect of such river valley catchment areas as may be specified by the Government by notification. The functions of this Board are to prepare and execute on its own initiative soil conservation and land improvement schemes in respect of such catchment areas.Clauses 3 and 4 of the Bill provide for declaring any area in the State as a "notified area" and for restricting, regulating or prohibiting certain acts such as clearing and breaking up of land, quarrying of stone, cutting of trees, etc., in such areas. Clause 6 makes provision for payment of compensation, wherever necessary, by the Collector of the district in respect of any right, the exercise of which is restricted or prohibited. Provision has been made in clause 27 for taking temporary possession for a period not exceeding ten years, of any land in the State lying waste for more than three consecutive years, for the purpose of reclaiming and settling it. Clause 31 provides for payment of compensation to the owners of the land for the period of temporary occupation. Suitable penal provision has also been made in clause 35 for punishing persons contravening the provisions of a scheme which has come into force. Published in Part IV-A, page 238 of the Fort St. George Gazette Extraordinary dated the 17th April 1959. Statement of Objects and Reasons - Madras Land Improvement Schemes (Amendment) Act, 1964 (Tamil Nadu Act 10 of 1964). - Section 37 of the Madras Land Improvement Schemes Act, 1959 (Madras Act 31 of 1959) lays down that all amounts payable to, or recoverable by, the Government, the Board of Revenue, the Soil Conservation Board or the Land Improvement Board or any officer of the Government under the Act may be recovered as if they were arrears of land revenue. The provisions of the said Act under which amounts are either payable to, or recoverable by, the Government are contained in sub-section (2) of section 22, sub-section (3) of section 23 and sub-section (2) of section 24. Sub-section (2) of section 22 provides that, if any work is not carried out to the satisfaction of the executing officer before the date fixed in that behalf or if the owner intimates to the executing officer in writing that he is unable to carry out any work before the date, the executing officer may cause the work to be carried out and recover the cost of the work from the owner. Sub-section (1) of section 23 provides that, if in consequence of any work carried out under the scheme, any person (including the Government) other than the owner of the land in which the work is done, is likely to be benefited, such person shall pay to the owner of the land or to the Government, as the case may be, such amount and within such time as the Board of Revenue may determine. It is provided in sub-section (3) of that section that if default is made in the payment of any amount under sub-section (1), the amount shall be recovered by the Board of Revenue and paid to the owner or the Government, as the case may be. Sub-section (1) of section 24 empowers the Government to direct by notification that any work under the scheme to be carried out by the owners of the lands shall be carried out by the Government and that the cost of such works shall be recovered in whole or in part from the owners of the lands included in the scheme in such proportion, as the Government may fix. Sub-section (2) of that section lays down that the cost directed to be recovered under sub-section (1) together with interest at such rate as the Government may determine shall be recoverable from the owners concerned. 2. By virtue of section 37, any amount payable to, or recoverable by, the Government under the Act may be recovered by the attachment and sale of any property belonging to the person from whom it is due. It is not necessary for the purpose to proceed against the land in respect of which, or for the benefit of which, any work under a scheme or the maintenance or repair of any such work has been carried out. It may happen in certain cases that the land in respect of which or for the benefit of which the work is carried out passes hands and the person liable to pay the amount due ceases to be the owner of the land. In such cases, the amount due has to be recovered by proceeding against the other properties of the person liable and it may even so happen that the person liable has no property at all, in which case, the amount due from him cannot be recovered. It is, therefore, considered that the amount due should be made first charge on the land in respect of which or for the benefit of which the work has been carried out, so that notwithstanding the fact that the land passes hands, the amount due can be recovered by the attachment and sale of the land in respect of which or for the benefit of which the work has been carried out. Hence, it is proposed to make provision in section 37 of the Act itself for the recovery of the cost of the work carried out under the scheme also out of the land in respect of which or for the benefit of which the work under a scheme or the maintenance or repair of any such work has been carried out. It is accordingly proposed to substitute a new section for the existing section 37-see clause 3.3. It is also proposed to make a suitable provision in section 8 of the Act to enable the Secretary to Government in charge of the Food and Agriculture Department to function as an ex-officio member of the Land Improvement Board and the Director of Agriculture or such officer as the Director of Agriculture may, with the previous approval of the Government, nominate in that behalf as Secretary to the Land Improvement Board.⁴ This opportunity has been availed of to modify the provisions contained in section 44 of the Act relating to the publication of the rules made under that Act and the placing of the rules, notifications and orders made or issued thereunder on the table of the Legislature so as to conform to the recommendation made by the Committee on Subordinate Legislation.⁵ The Bill is intended to give effect to the above proposals. Published in Part IV-Section 3 page 351 of the Fort St. George Gazette Extraordinary, dated the 10th October 1964. Statement of Objects and Reasons - Tamil Nadu Land Improvement Schemes (Amendment) Act, 2001 (Tamil Nadu Act 60/2001) - The Government of India have sent a model Bill on Soil Conservation and suggested this Government to take appropriate steps for amending the existing Act on the subject to suit the changed conditions for maintenance and rehabilitation of the land resources. Accordingly, this Government have decided to amend certain provisions of the Tamil Nadu Land Improvement Schemes Act, 1959 (Tamil Nadu Act 31 of 1959), taking into consideration the administrative set up and the soil and climatic conditions of the State, to achieve the goal of improved land resources, soil conservation and agricultural output.² The Bill seeks to give effect to the above decision. Published in Part IV-Section I of the Tamil Nadu Government Gazette Extraordinary, dated the 30th January 2001. Received the assent of the President on the 1st March 1960 and first published Part IV-B, page 63 of the Fort St. George Gazette, dated the 16th March 1960.
