The Rajiv Gandhi National University of Law, Punjab Act, 2006 Punjab Act No. 12 of 2006 Statement of Objects and Reasons - Considerable interest has been generated for the establishment of National Level Law University in the State of Punjab. The object of this University is to evolve and impart comprehensive Legal Education including distant and continuing at all levels to achieve excellence, promote research in all branches of law, and create legal awareness in the community for achieving social and economic justice. Establishment of Rajiv Gandhi National University of Law, Punjab requires a specific enabling legislation. As the establishment of such universities require a broadly uniform set of guidelines for ensuring academic standards, prevention of commercialization and mismanagement, etc., enactment of an enabling legislation of general applicability is considered expedient. It has, therefore, been decided to provide for establishment of Rajiv Gandhi National University of Law, Punjab in the State and to regulate their functioning by enacting an enabling law on the subject. The Bill seeks to achieve the above objects. Published by Punjab Government Gazette (Extraordinary), dated March 17, 2006, Page 585. [Dated the 25th April, 2006] Department of Legal and Legislative Affairs, Punjab No. 12-Legislative/2006. - The following Act of the Legislature of the State of Punjab received the assent of the Governor of Punjab on the 18th April, 2006 and is hereby published for general information ; - An Act to establish and incorporate a University for the development and advancement of legal education and for the purposes of imparting specialised and systematic instruction, training and research in systems of law and for the matters connected therewith or incidental thereto.
