No increase in the cadre of Master Chief Petty Officer Class I and II shall be made in the place of Master Chief Petty Officers Class I and II granted honorary commission.(6)Retirement. - Retirement shall be regulated by the rules of engagement or re-engagement and superannuation applicable to such persons prior to the grant of honorary commission to them.Section IX - "Good Conduct Badges"

290. Award of Good Conduct Badge.

- Good Conduct Badge shall not be awarded or restored as a matter of course merely because a man has avoided serious punishments. If the Captain is satisfied that a man is fully qualified in accordance with regulations 291 to 293 and sub-regulation (1) of regulation 294 and is deserving of the award, a badge shall be conferred, when due, under provisions of this Section. The maximum number of badges that a sailor may earn during his service shall be three.

291. Service qualification.

(1)Before a sailor can be considered for the award of a Good Conduct Badge, he must have completed the following periods of qualifying service :

For 1st Good Conduct Badge 4 years

For 2nd Good Conduct Badge 8 years

For 3rd Good Conduct Badge 12 years

(2)The whole service in the Indian Navy, including mobilised service of a reservist, shall be reckoned as qualifying service, with the following exceptions-(a)Time served before attaining the age of 17 years;(b)Time for which pay is not allowed for example, time lost through imprisonment, detention, cells, custody of civil power, waiting trial for desertion or time during which a man has been out of the Service for any cause;(c)Time in the second class for conduct;(d)Time prior to desertion unless the notation "R" (Run) or "R, Q" (Run Query) is removed;(e)Fleet Reserve Service including time under training as a Reservist;(f)Time before absence from the Service for the period referred to in Regulations 298(1) and 300(1)(a).Explanation. - In reckoning service towards badges, care shall be taken that the same period of time forfeited is not deducted more than once; for example, under "cells" and second class for conduct.

292. Conduct qualification.

- In addition to fulfilling the condition regarding the period of qualifying service laid down in sub-regulation (1) of Regulation 291 a man must also qualify by conduct before being considered for the award of a badge. The minimum requirement for the award of each badge is continuous "Very Good" conduct during the two years of reckonable service immediately preceding the award of the badge.

293. Additional qualification for the award of the 2nd and the 3rd Good Conduct Badges.

- In addition to satisfying the conditions laid down in sub-regulation (1) of Regulation 291 a man must have been properly in continuous possession of the preceding badge (or badges) for the 12 months of actual service immediately prior to the award of the second or the third badge, as the case may be, except when badges are awarded consequent on removal of notation "R" by the Captain or when, after removal of "R" by the captain the sailor becomes eligible by service and conduct for the award of the second or the third badge within 12 months of the date of removal of "R".

294. Captain's decision regarding award or deferment.

(1)When the man has qualified for consideration in accordance with Regulations 291 to 293 the Captain shall consider the award of a badge whether the sailor applies for the same or not. If the Captain decides that the sailor has maintained the requisite standard of conduct and is in all respects deserving of a badge he shall award the badge with effect from the due date and record his decision in pencil on the man's service certificate, form IN. 285 -"Recommendation for [Promotion] [Substituted by S.R.O. 361, dated 10th November, 1975] and Conduct Record Sheet" shown in Appendix IX. On receipt of Form I.N. 14, duly verified by the Captain Naval Barracks, the date of award as confirmed on Form I.N. 14 shall be recorded on the man's Service certificate in ink.(2)If after considering the award of a badge, the Captain decides that the sailor has clearly failed to reach the necessary standard (his decision shall operate as a break in the continuity of "Very Good" conduct) the Captain's decision not towards the badge shall be recorded on the man's Form I.N. 285 in the appropriate column, together with a new date of recommencement of "Very Good" conduct, that is to say, the day after the man qualified for consideration. This shall be entered in red ink and signed by the Captain.(3)In appropriate cases, however, instead of deciding not to award the badge the Captain may direct the sailor to appear before him again after a period of not less than three or more than six months. This decision should be noted on the form I.N. 285, and during this period the sailor shall not be [promoted] [Substituted by S.R.O. 361, dated 10th November, 1975.] in [rank] Substituted by S.R.O. 192, dated 10th September, 1973.Should the Captain decide at the end of the period of deferment that the sailor's conduct during the two years preceding that date may now be considered to have reached the qualifying standard, the badge shall be awarded from the date of such final decision and the entry on the man's service certificate as well as on Form I.N. 14 underlined to indicate that the deferment was intentional.(5)If, however, at the end of the period of deferment, the Captain decides that the sailor's conduct is still below the requisite standard the continuity of his "Very Good" conduct shall be regarded as broken on the day he qualified for consideration of the award in the first instance. The fresh date of recommencement of "Very Good" conduct, that is to say, the day after the man qualified for consideration in the first instance, shall be entered in red ink in the appropriate column of the man's Recommendation for [promotion] [Substituted by S.R.O. 361, dated 10th November, 1975] and Conduct Record Sheet and signed by the Captain.(6)A sailor who has received one or more minor punishments not involving a break in the continuity of his "Very Good" Conduct during the two years immediately preceding the award may nevertheless be deemed worthy of a badge, if his general conduct and bearing are of the requisite standard. Conversely, although a sailor may not have been punished, the Captain might, in certain circumstances, consider him below the requisite standard.(7)Before a sailor is deprived of a Good Conduct Badge, the Captain must invariably ascertain whether he is due for the award of any badges, and if he is due, then the Captain should consider the award of the badges with reference to the sailor's conduct prior to the commission of the offence with which he has been charged. If the conduct of the sailor so merits, the Captain should award the Good Conduct Badge due. The question of deprivation of a badge or badges shall then be considered on the merits of the case.

295. Finality of awards by the Captain.

- An award or restoration of a badge authorised by the Captain in accordance with this section (duly verified by the Captain, Naval Barracks) shall be regarded as final and shall not be altered without the prior approval of the Chief of the Naval Staff.

296. Good Conduct Pay.

- The possession of Good Conduct Badge in accordance with the provisions of this section shall entitle a sailor to the Good Conduct Pay attached to the award(s).

297. Errors in award of Badges.

- If a badge has been awarded or restored from an incorrect date, the qualifying period during which that badge must have been held before a further badge can be awarded or restored shall commence from the correct date from which the said preceding badge ought to have been awarded or restored. Overpayments, if any, made consequent on erroneous award shall not be recovered.

298. Former Service.

(1)Ex-Servicemen other than pensioners who are re-entered in the Navy within three years (five years in the case of Reservists) of their discharge, shall be permitted by the Captain, Naval Barracks, if the Audit Report of the Controller of Defence Accounts (Navy), so justifies,(a)to resume any Good Conduct Badges they held on discharge; and(b)to reckon towards the acquisition of Good Conduct Badges under Regulations 290 to 291(1) to their former qualifying service, including mobilised service in the case of Reservists, with the exceptions detailed in Regulations 291(2) to 293:Provided that Ex-Army and Ex-Indian Air Force men refund any bonus or gratuity which they may have received on, or since, their discharge from the Army, Army Reserve, Indian Air Force or Indian Air Force Reserve in not more than 36 monthly instalments from their pay commencing from the date of their enrolment in the Indian Navy.[Provided further that in the case of an Ex-Servicemen other than a pensioner,who is an ex-sailor, no audit report as aforesaid shall be necessary.] Inserted by S.R.O. 5-E, dated 16th April, 1968In the case of Ex-Army and Ex-Indian Air Force men any service in the Army or Indian Air Force below the age of 17 years shall not count.

299. Pensioners and Reservists.

(1)Pensioners and Reservists when called up shall resume their position as regards badges, and receive pay for the latter without reference to the time which may have elapsed since they last served.(2)Should any Pensioner or Reservist not have been in possession of three Good Conduct Badges when pensioned or discharged to the Reserve, his previous service, as well as Active Service as a pensioner or reservist after recall shall be allowed to reckon towards further badges.

300. Sailors to be treated as new entrants.

(1)Sailors in the following categories shall be considered in respect of the award of badges as fresh entries from the date of their return to the Service :-(a)Sailors who rejoin after an absence of three years (5 years in the case of Reservists), except as provided in sub-regulation (1) of regulation 299;(b)Recovered deserters, unless the 'R.' or'R.Q.' is removed.(2)On the notation 'R.' or'R.Q.'being removed from the record of a recovered deserter or when service which has been forfeited for any cause is restored any badge or badges forfeited in consequence of desertion or forfeiture of service, and any further badges for which the sailor may be eligible under ordinary rules, may be granted from the date of the order for removal or for restoration of forfeited service.

301. Restoration of Good Conduct Badges.

(1)Restoration of good conduct badges may be considered when it becomes due whether the sailor prefers his claim or not, the procedure in sub-regulation (1) of regulation 294 for the award of a badge being observed.(2)One badge may be regained by six months "Very Good" conduct, and additional badges by further periods of six months, reckoned in each case, from the date of the preceding restoration. If, however, a sailor has been sentenced to deprivation a second time within three years of service after the first deprivation, the qualification shall be 12 months for the first restoration and six months for each subsequent restoration.Time which does not count for purposes of award shall not be reckoned towards restoration of badges.(3)It shall be within the discretion of the Captain to delay the restoration of a badge if, at the time restoration would normally be due, a sailor has failed to reach the requisite standard of conduct. When restoration of a badge is delayed under this sub-regulation, the continuity of "Very Good" conduct shall be regarded as broken on the date on which the sailor completed six months or twelve months, "Very Good" conduct and a fresh period of qualification commences the following day. This procedure may be repeated until the required standard of conduct is attained. The fact that the restoration of a badge has been delayed shall be noted on the sailor's Recommendations for '[promotion] and Conduct Record Sheet.(4)When a badge is restored after the normal date, the notation of restoration on the Service Certificate shall be underlined to indicate that the restoration has been advisedly delayed.Section X.

307. Annual Recommendations.

(1) After a sailor has been awarded a "Very Good" character for the 9th year in succession in service counting towards the medal, the Captain shall consider whether the sailor is also deserving of the recommendation for the Medal. (2) If the sailor is considered deserving of the medal, the Captain when recording the award of the 10th successive "Very Good" character on the Service Certificate shall also record the recommendation in the appropriate column by the notation "R.M.G." (2) In cases where the Chief of the Naval Staff has already awarded the Medal: (a) if the report indicates that misconduct, or punishment awarded for it, would have involved a loss of the medal or that deprivation would have been proposed had the medal been in the sailor's possession at the time of the punishment, the medal should be regarded as awarded and shall be deprived in accordance with prescribed orders. (b) in other cases the medal shall be presented and retained by the awardee, despite the intervening misconduct. (3) A sailor who has been deprived of a "Good Conduct Badge" shall not be entitled to have the medal presented to him until the badge is restored. (Recommended for Meritorious Service Medal).(3)If a sailor is not considered deserving of the Medal, the fact shall be recorded by drawing a line across the recommendation column on the Service Certificate. 319. Assessment of Character.

(1)Sailors shall be assessed for character by the Commanding Officer under one of the following terms on the occasions prescribed in Regulation 326:

VeryGood, to be written	V.G.
VeryGood (Star) to be written	V.G
Good,to be written	Good
Fair,to be written	Fair
Indifferent,to be written	Indifferent
Bad,to be written	Bad

(2)In assessing the character of a sailor, the Commanding Officer shall consult the Executive Officer and the officer of the sailor's division, as well as any other officer who may have special knowledge of the sailor. He shall fully consider all the entries against the sailor on his Record of Offences Sheet since the date of the last character assessment on his service certificate and his general character and efficiency, so that this duty, so important both to the sailor and to the Service, may be performed justly and with proper deliberation.(3)Where a sailor has been transferred from another ship, or has been embarked, since the immediately preceding 31st December, the Commanding Officer shall take into consideration the assessments made on the sailor's Recommendation for [promotion] [Substitued by S.R.O. 361, dated 10th November, 1975] and Conduct Record Sheet since that date.(4)Where a sailor has been temporarily transferred for any course and is to return to the parent ship, the assessment shall be made by the parent ship.(5)The actual character assessment to be given to any sailor shall be at the discretion of the Commanding Officer subject to the maximum assessments prescribed in Regulations 320 to 325 and to any inferior assessment already approved following conviction by the civil power. Any assessment which is below the maximum allowable, for example, "Good" when "V.G." or "V.G." is permissible or "Fair" when "Good" is permissible, shall be underlined by the Commanding Officer in order that there may be no question that the assessment has been made advisedly. When considering such discretionary assessments the Commanding Officer shall bear in mind that(a)any discretionary assessment involves a break in the continuity of the sailor's "Very Good" conduct and therefore has an adverse effect on the award or restoration of badges, and on [promotion] Substituted by S.R.O. 361, dated 10th November, 1975a "Good" assessment unless awarded within the first three years of pensionable service shall render the sailor ineligible to be considered, on completion of time for minimum pension, for the award of the Long Service and Good Conduct Medal with or without gratuity;(c)a "Fair" or lower assessment shall render a sailor ineligible to be considered, for all time, for the award of the long service and good conduct medal with or without gratuity.(6)When assessing the character of a sailor who is in the second class for conduct on the immediately preceding 31st December and may be restored to the first class at the end of the first or second months, the Commanding Officer may award the highest character permissible, for example, "VG." if appropriate or "Good", but if restoration is deferred beyond the first or second months, the assessment must be altered to "Good" or "Fair" as the case may be. Such alterations shall be reported to the Captain, Naval Barracks.(7)If a sentence be quashed, the sentence originally awarded shall not affect the maximum character assessment for which the sailor is otherwise eligible.(8)If a sentence be reduced, the sailor shall be eligible for the maximum character assessment applicable to the reduced sentence.(9)If a sentence be suspended before a committal order is issued, the effect upon character entailed by the inflection of the suspended sentence shall also be regarded as suspended.(10)With the exceptions in sub-regulations (7) to (9) the maximum character assessment shall be governed by the sentence as awarded and shall not be affected by remission earned by the offender or granted by the Government, or by discharge of the offender from prison or detention under section 154.(11)A conviction by the civil power shall not be taken into consideration in the assessment of character, unless an inferior character was either specifically approved or was entailed by any other consequential naval penalty following conviction by the civil power.

320. "V.G."

- "V.G." is the highest character assessment attainable even by the sailor whose behaviour has been exemplary throughout the year. It shall not, therefore, be awarded automatically to a sailor whose general behaviour has not been satisfactory, merely because he has avoided major punishments.

321. "V.G."

(1)The privilege of a "VG." character is granted in order that a sailor may not, by one slip, forfeit the rewards due to an otherwise unblemished record. The Commanding Officer may assess a sailor's character as "V.G." once during the sailor's career, notwithstanding that an assessment of "V.G." has been precluded by one of the following punishments:(a)in the first four years of sailor's time(i)Cells for a period not exceeding five days;(ii)reduction to the second class for conduct if restored at the end of one month; or,(b)by the following punishment at any time-Deprivation of one Good Conduct Badge.(2)This privilege shall not be allowed unless the Commanding Officer is entirely satisfied with the behaviour, conduct and work of the sailor for the year, apart from the offence which resulted in one of the punishments mentioned in sub-regulation (1).(3)When an offender's sentence is suspended before committal, he has, having been convicted, made the one slip which the privilege of "V.G." is intended to cover, and consequently the character assessment of such a sailor for the year in which he has received a suspended sentence shall not be "VG.". The assessment may be "VG." subject to:(a)the provisions of the relevant Regulations regarding effect of suspension of sentences upon consequential penalties;(b)the provisions of sub-regulation (2) and sub-regulation (4);(c)the effect of any other punishment awarded during the year;(d)the award of "V.G." not being precluded by a previous award of "V.G."A sailor with a previous assessment of "VG." or below, whose character is being assessed for a year in which he had received a suspended sentence, shall not receive a character higher than "Good".(4)Sailors who have previously received a character below "V.G." in man's time are not eligible for the concession, nor are sailors who have had an inferior assessment specially altered with the prior approval of the Chief of the Naval Staff to "V.G."unless the alteration followed automatically upon the cancellation of a punishment, and then only with the prior approval of the Chief of the Naval Staff.(5)"V.G." shall be regarded as equivalent to "V.G." for all purposes which entail consideration of character the asterisk being placed against the award to ensure that no sailor receives such special consideration more than once during his service.(6)"V.G." cannot be awarded as a discretionary assessment to a sailor whose general behaviour during the year is considered by the Commanding Officer not to warrant as assessment of "VG.".

322. "Good".

(1)Subject to the provisions of Regulation 321 for the award of "VG." a higher character than "Good" shall not be given to any sailor if during the period for which his character is being assessed he has been awarded any of the following punishments, namely :(a)[Reduced in rank] Substituted by S.R.O. 192, dated 10th September, 1973Deprived of one or more Good Conduct Badges or of the Long Service and Good Conduct Medal.(c)Sentenced to cells, detention or imprisonment or any two or more of these punishments for less than 22 days in the aggregate.(d)Reduced to 2nd class for conduct, provided he is restored within the first or second months from the date of reduction See Regulation 319(5)].(2)If a sailor has been awarded two or more of the above punishments during the year, it shall be open to the Commanding Officer to award an assessment lower than "Good" if he thinks fit. Such a lower assessment shall be underlined.(3)A higher character than "Good" shall not ordinarily be awarded to any sailor who is discharged from the service "Services no longer required".

323. "Fair".

- A higher character than "Fair" shall not be given to any sailor if during the period for which his character is being assessed he has been sentenced to be punished in any of the following ways, namely :(a)Reduced to the second class for conduct on one or more occasions for a period exceeding two months in the aggregate but not exceeding six months.(b)Sentenced to cells, detention or imprisonment, or any two or more of these punishments, for 22 days or more in the aggregate but less than 61 days.(c)Dismissed without disgrace or without any additional punishment that could affect his character.

324. "Indifferent".

- A higher character than 'Indifferent' shall not be given to any sailor if during the period for which his character is being assessed he has been sentenced to be punished in any of the following ways, namely:(a)Reduced to the second class for conduct on two or more occasions for a period exceeding six months in the aggregate.(b)Sentenced to cells, detention or imprisonment, or any two or more of these punishments, for 61 days or more in the aggregate.

325. "Bad".

- "Bad" character may be given only on discharge from the service to sailors who have been(a)dismissed with disgrace;(b)dismissed or discharged after conviction for particularly vicious offences;(c)dismissed or discharged for misconduct after long records of previous misconduct with several earlier assessments of "Fair" or "Indifferent".

326. Record of Character Assessment.

(1)The character of every sailor borne on the books of a ship shall be recorded on his service certificate by the Commanding Officer, who shall insert the entry in his own handwriting and write his signature on the same line as the character awarded, as follows :(a)On 31st December in each year, except where sailors are waiting trial for desertion.(b)On being marked "RUN", but not to be recorded until final discharge from ship's books unless the sailor is in desertion on 31st December of the year in which he is marked "RUN".(c)On discharge from the Service, except where a sailor sentenced to imprisonment is to be discharged direct from the prison to civil life. In such circumstances, his character shall be assessed on the date he is discharged from ship's books.(2)If a sailor dealt with under clause (b) or clause (c) of sub-regulation (1) rejoins the Service within the year, the assessed character awarded on 31st December shall cover the whole year, the intermediate character awarded on desertion or discharge being ruled through. This does not apply to recovered deserters awaiting trial at the end of the year; their characters shall not be assessed on 31st December.(3)A sailor's character since the previous 31st December shall also be recorded on his Recommendation for [promotion] [Substitued by S.R.O. 361, dated 10th November, 1975] and Conduct Record Sheet on discharge or on transfer to another ship, or on being marked "RUN".(4)Any person who may be on passage, in prison, under detention, imprisoned by the civil authority, or in hospital, on 31st December in any year, shall have his character to that date assessed from his Recommendation for [promotion] [Substitued by S.R.O. 361, dated 10th November, 1975] and Conduct Record Sheet on his arrival on board the ship to which he is sent or to which he may returnn, the assessment being made by the Commanding Officer of such ship.(5)A sailor invalided out of the Service shall have his character assessed to date from the entries on his conduct sheet by the Commanding Officer of the ship upon whose books the sailor is borne.

327. Character Assessment of Artificer Apprentices and Boys.

(1)The character of all Artificer Apprentices shall be assessed on the day they attain the age of 17 years and thereafter annually on 31st December.(2)The character of Boys shall be assessed upon their final discharge from the Boy's Training Establishment or on the day they attain the age of 17 years whichever is earlier, and thereafter annually on 31st December.

328. Re-assessment of Character.

(1)Assessments higher than those permitted by Regulations 320 to 325 shall be corrected, with approval of the Chief of the Naval Staff but those properly made by the Commanding Officer in accordance with sub-regulation (5) of Regulation 319 are final and shall not be subject to review unless one of the following conditions is fulfilled, when application may be made to the Chief of the Naval Staff for re-assessment:(a)The assessment has come to have an effect which could not have been foreseen at the time it was awarded and which, taking into consideration also the length and quality of subsequent service, is now unduly severe. An application for review on these grounds may be forwarded only within the last year before completion of time for pension or on discharge if earlier. No application shall be entertained when the character record during pensionable service includes an assessment below "Good" or more than one assessment other than "V.G." (for example one "VG.*" and one "Good") except in very exceptional circumstances (for example because of recognition given for an act of personal gallantry).(b)There is good reason to believe that a character assessment which is lower than the highest assessment which could have been given, under Regulations 320 to 325 was not given advisedly. An application for review on these grounds may be made as soon as possible after the assessment has been communicated. If the application is not made within a reasonable period, it shall include the reasons for the delay.(c)The assessment was unfair or the punishment which affected the assessment was unjust or unduly severe in itself or in its immediate effects. An application for review on these grounds shall follow the procedure prescribed for making complaints. Any such complaints shall be made as soon as possible, while the facts are still ascertainable.(2)The only applications for the review of character assessments which may be considered after a sailor has been released are those relating to the final assessment on discharge and such applications shall be considered only if appeal is made on discharge or within three months after the date of discharge. Any sailor who expresses dissatisfaction with the assessment given on his discharge shall be warned that any appeal to the Chief of the Naval Staff must be made within three months.(3)Application under clauses (b) and (c) of sub-regulation (1) from pensioners, reservists, or sailors re-entered, for review of character assessments during previous periods of service shall not be entertained.

329. "Very Good Conduct"

(1)(a)The standard required for the maintenance of "Very Good" Conduct is not the same as that for an award of "V.G." character, but is a higher and more exacting one. To maintain the standard a sailor must have conducted himself with sobriety, diligence and attention.(b)"Very Good" conduct is not governed by a sailor's character as assessed on his service certificate, except as in clause (c) of sub-regulation (2) and, subject to the provisions of the following rules, the latter part of a year for which a character lower than "VG." has been awarded may be regarded by the Commanding Officer as a period of "Very Good" conduct.(2)A break in continuity of "Very Good" conduct is obligatory under the circumstances stated below :(a)When a sailor is punished by warrant or receives a sentence by court-martial which is at least the equivalent of a warrant punishment. The mere fact of conviction shall constitute a break in the continuity of "Very Good" conduct, regardless of the fact that a sentence is suspended before committal and subsequently remitted partially or wholly. If however a sentence is proved to be wholly unjustified and is quashed, break in the continuity of "Very Good" conduct shall not be obligatory. (b) When a discretionary character lower than "V.G." is awarded advisedly as a consequence of a number of minor offences, none of which of itself necessitated a break in continuity of "Very Good" conduct. (c) When a badge is intentionally not awarded when due or after the period of deferment. (d) When restoration of a badge has been intentionally delayed. (e) When on conviction by the civil authority any of the naval penalties, other than forfeiture of pay and time and stoppage of leave, are awarded. (3) In addition, a break in "Very Good" conduct may be imposed as a separate naval penalty. Further, it is within the discretion of the Commanding Officer to regard any reprehensible act, for example a repeated contraction of venereal disease, any particular naval offence or a series of minor offences as breaking the continuity of "Very Good" conduct, even though a character assessment below "V.G." is not involved. A break shall not be awarded as a punishment or as a substitute, but it may accompany any punishment if the Commanding Officer considers that the circumstances justify such a course. (4) When a break in continuity of "Very Good" conduct is obligatory under sub-regulation (2) the break need not be specially recorded on the sailor's Record of Offences Sheet because it will be obvious why it has been incurred but in all other circumstances the break shall be recorded in the "Remarks" column of the Sailor's Record of offences Sheet, and not in the "Punishment Awarded" column. (5) The date on which "Very Good" conduct is broken and the reasons thereof shall be intimated to the Captain, Naval Barracks (Drafting Office) by issue of a Genform immediately on occurrence. (6) (a) The date of recommencement of "Very Good" conduct after a break in its continuity shall be recorded in the appropriate column of the sailor's Recommendation for [Promotion] [Substituted by S.R.O. 361, dated 10th November, 1975] and Conduct Record Sheet. The date of recommencement of "Very Good" conduct shall in all cases be inserted in red ink. (b) If a sailor is transferred to another ship while in prison or detention or in the second class for conduct, the date of recommencement of "Very Good" conduct will not be known and the words "not V.G." shall be inserted in the appropriate column of his Recommendation for [Promotion] [Substituted by S.R.O. 361, dated 10th November, 1975] and Conduct Record Sheet. (c) When a sailor joins from another ship, "V.G." time for badge purposes shall be reckoned from the date entered on the Recommendation for [Promotion] [Substituted by S.R.O. 361, dated 10th November, 1975] and Conduct Record Sheet. (7) When a break has been incurred :

(a) under clause (2) (a)

Exceptions

prison.

(iii) When a sentence of cells, detention or imprisonment is postponed under section 151(2), Navy Act, 1957.

The date of recommencement of "Very Good" conduct shall be antedated by the number of days of postponement.

(iv) When a sentence of cells, detention or imprisonment is suspended.

"Very Good" conduct shall recommence on the following day, but would again be broken if the sentence were subsequently enforced on account of further misconduct.

(b) Under clause (2)(b)

The date of recommencement of "Very Good" conduct shall be the day following the date of the discretionary character assessment (usually 1st January).

(c) Under clause (2)(c):

(i) Good Conduct Badge not awarded when due.

The date of recommencement of "Very Good" conduct is the day after the sailor completed the necessary period of service with "Very Good" conduct to qualify for consideration for the award.

(ii) Good Conduct Badge is not awarded even after the period of deferment.

The date of recommencement of "Very Good" conduct is the day after the sailor completed the necessary period of service with "Very Good" conduct to qualify for consideration for award of the badge in the first place.

(d) Under clause (2)(d).

The date of recommencement of "Very Good" conduct is the day after the sailor completed the necessary period of service with "Very Good" conduct to qualify for consideration for the restoration of the badge in the first place.

(e) Under clause (2)(e), or otherwise as a Naval Penalty.

"Very Good" conduct shall recommence on the day after the date on which the offence was found proved against the sailor, unless a sentence of imprisonment (or detention in a Reformatory Jail) is awarded in which case the date of recommencement of "Very Good" conduct shall be the day after release. When a sailor forfeits time and pay for the period in civil custody but a break in continuity of "Very Good" conduct is not involved as a naval penalty, his existing date of recommencement of "Very Good" conduct shall be post-dated by the number of days forfeited and the new date shall be inserted in red ink.

Appendix II State Funeral (Regulation 108) General-

1. A State Funeral, as apart from a purely Military Funeral, will be accorded to any dignitary when ordered by the Government of India.

2. The main procession will normally start from the residence of the deceased or the place where the body is lying. But if the mortuary is too far away from the place of burial/ cremation or is unsuitable for the procession to form up, another suitable place will be selected where the main procession will form up. The body up to this selected place will be brought escorted by a small party in vehicles.

Procedure before procession starts

3. The order of forming up at deceased's residence is given at Annexure A. Following points are for classification :

(a) The main procession will normally be formed up on the road. (b) The Chief mourners, bearers and Pall bearers will be inside the building. (c) The carriage will be just outside the building with the firing party or a detachment from the leading escort, as the case may be, on the right or left of the carriage depending on the direction in which the carriage is to move. (d) Mourners who have to lay wreaths will be behind the carriage and the firing party. (e) Part of the escort will line the whole route.

4. The coffin suitably draped by a National Flag of the country of the deceased will be brought out by the bearers, accompanied by Pall bearers and followed by the chief mourners.

5. As the body is brought out of the building, all those near the carriage will come to attention. The firing party will "Present Arms" when officers in uniform will salute. The firing party will then "Reverse Arms" as the coffin is placed on the carriage. Officers in uniform shall come to attention at the last movement of line "Reverse Arms". When the coffin has been properly placed on the carriage the mourners will lay the wreaths in order of precedence and then proceed to join the mourners lining the road.

6. The cortege is now ready to move off. The firing party of leading detachment and the remainder of the leading portion of the procession will pass through the mourners and band and drummers (with drums muffled), who will have formed up in two ranks, facing inwards, 2 paces interval between men and 8 paces distance between ranks.

7. If the procession is to start from a selected place, the procedure will be as follows:

firing party.

10. The front escort will move off in "slow time" and resume its correct position, that is, in front of the firing party.

11. The mourners, and band and drummers will get into their proper position in the procession as the firing party or leading detachment and the remainder of the leading portion of the procession passes between their ranks. The officers in uniform will salute as the carriage carrying the body passes them.

13. Troops lining the route will be at the "Order Arms". As the funeral procession comes into view they will "Rest on your Arms Reversed". They will "Present Arms" as the head of the funeral procession approaches them and return to "Rest on your Arms Reversed", when the procession has passed.
